HR only,

If you have any advise or opinion, as always I will pay attention. I will not now undertake to engage in any further correspondence on this. The loss has been enormous and I can't afford the time. I'll try and complete what has to be done to II and then will reread III, for we've too much time invested in it now not to. Wil has spent a solid month typing corrections. Were it not for Ned, I'd hvae completed the new part and let it rest.

I neither ask that you write him nor ask that you do not. Do or do or no not do what you think appropriate, if anything.

I have to consider I was gulled or this guy is real sick.

Do I have to tell you how disturbing this all is?

Thanks for the try.
